

Can wedding guests go up to the bar and order their drinks?

Yes, guests can also mingle with alcohol while standing for pre-wedding drinks.

What is the maximum number of people allowed at a wedding?

A maximum of up to 100 people can attend wedding ceremonies that are conducted under a COVID Safe Plan regardless of the size of the venue.

How many people can dance at a wedding?

Up to 40 people at a time can dance at a wedding held under a COVID Safe Plan or Checklist

What is the max number of guests per table?

10

Can family members that don't live in the same household sit next to each other at a table?

Yes, but social distancing must be enforced.

Can coffee cups be put on each table? Can staff fill up coffee and tea at the table? Can they have jugs of milk for tea and coffee on the table?

Yes.

Can jugs of soft drink, beer wine be placed on the table or must it be in bottle or cans?

Single serve options are recommended preferable, but shared options are allowed. Communal options such as punch bowls are not permitted.

Can platters, grazing plates, cheese plates and salads be placed on each individual table EG: table of eight might have two platters on it and does each guest need their own serving tongs?

Yes, individual serving utensils are encouraged but not mandatory.

Can a caterer do a BBQ if they have a perspex screen to protect the food and serve on individual plates? Can people come up to get served the BBQ one table at a time then go back and sit down or should it only be table service?

Yes.

Can a caterer drop off food at an event without a covid safe plan?

Yes

Do these rules in the CovidSafe Plan apply for wedding and any events held on private property? Who would be policing these private events, and would they be allowed onto someone's private property to check they are following the rules?

Yes, it would be up to whoever is 'running' the function – however please note that functions at a private residence carry smaller guest limits to those booked in for-hire venues.